

The NSCSA's Letter of Good Standing has a New Look!

The NSCSA's Letter of Good Standing has been used as a provincial bid requirement for over 15 years. It shows that a company has an effective safety program in place that is audited by the NSCSA on an annual basis to ensure that appropriate documentation is kept and that the program is being supported by employees and management.

The NSCSA's Letter of Good Standing has been redesigned. It will now show the company's size at the time of their evaluation by the NSCSA. This shows that the company has appropriate controls in place for a specific size. This improvement is based on feedback from our members.
